ENGINEER Banat's University of Agricultural Sciences and Veterinary Medicine "King Michael I of Romania" from

The main subjects studied: Soil Sciences, Topography, Environmental Chemistry. Non-polluting fertilizer resources, Soil protection, evolution and improvement, Land assessment, Bioremediation, Agriculture systems, representing for me a very efficient study method because it is mainly based on practical courses. During these courses I had the opportunity to visit many places of work coming into direct contact with the conditions in the field of work. Volunteering in the university laboratory where I analyzed the potential of the soil and the methods to combat its destruction by fertilization were also very effective.

PROJECTS

15/06/2022 – CURRENT

"The little agronomic engineer"

Through this project we aim to teach children the secrets of agriculture in their own way, we play together and become farmers in the true sense of the word. Students will be encouraged to get involved in practical vegetable growing activities and to learn new things about important topics, from food safety and security to environmental sustainability.

The project "The little agronomic engineer" is financed by Științescu Timișoara.

The Timișoara Science Program is implemented by

The Timișoara Community Foundation, funded locally by Hamilton Central Europe and HELLA, nationally by the Romanian-American Foundation and the Bosch Romania Foundation and is supported by the Federation of Community Foundations in Romania - FFCR.
